

Mr. Book Worm

An example might be:

"Mr. Book Worm has found a giant home in a peachy-keen place. The author is a real Dahl" Can you find me?"

Help your students learn the Dewey Decimal System with this fun activity.

Arrange with your school's librarian to conduct a library search with your students. Make several copies of this cute book worm and hide them in various books in the library. Give your students a list of clues for finding each worm's location.

Your students will be excited to find Roald Dahl's James and the Giant Peach just where it belongs in the library!

Mr. Book Worm illustration can also be used as a booklet cover or as a reading award!
